FOUR CENTS

CLIMACTIC BATTLE FOR ROME NOW NEAR

Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE

Shades of the past: There are not many left here who can remember the gala occasion 60 years ago when members of the Clinton County Bar Association came to Washington C. H. to play baseball with the attorneys of Fayette County . . . and those who may have heard their elders talk about it probably have long since forgotten . . . but now, after all these years, the baseball used in the game and the lineups of the players have come to light . . . found by Miss Blanche Gregory, clerk of the Clinton County courts, when she was cleaning out a safe in her office.

Sealed up in a jar with the vital statistics of the game . . . which the Wilmington attorneys won, incidentally, by a score of 43 to 10 . . . was a card saying the game was played prior to a "complimentary banquet given by members of the Fayette County Bar in honor of members of the Clinton County Bar at the Arlington Hotel in Washington C. H., Thursday evening, August 30, 1883." . . . the lineups and score cards were so arranged in the jar that they could be read without breaking the seal.

Players on the Washington C. H. team, their batting order and the number of runs scored were: A. B. Rankin, second base, 1 run; Joseph Hidy, right field, 1 run; John Logan, first base, 2 runs; Humphrey Jones, catcher, 2 runs; T. D. McElwain, shortstop, 2 runs; H. M. Daugherty, pitcher, 2 runs; J. B. Koontz, left field, no runs; and Nye Gregg, center field, no runs.

The Wilmington team read: C. W. Swain, center field, 6 runs; F. B. Mills, second base, 8 runs; J. T. Doan, catcher, 7 runs; M. Hayes, pitcher, 4 runs; W. W. Savage, shortstop, 5 runs; D. B. Van Pelt, first base, 3 runs; E. J. West, right field, 4 runs; and J. S. Savage, third base, 2 runs.

All of the attorneys who played in that game are dead now . . . but many of them are still remembered as men who made names for themselves in their chosen professions.

The labor shortage has placed the B. and O. Railroad in a bad predicament here.

For sometime efforts have been made to get a ticket agent, one who does nothing but sell tickets and keep the records straight. None has been found, and as a result Agent Frank Witherspoon and the various operators at the station have taken turns at the ticket window.

Anyone qualified for the job need not be without work very long if they contact Witherspoon, who is becoming desperate as result of the situation.

MISSING REPORTER KILLED AND BURNED

Furnace Murder Confessed by Girl's Slayer

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 26.—(P)—Rose Brancato, 28, New Haven Journal Courier reporter, who disappeared mysteriously on July 5 of last year, and was never seen or heard from again, was slain and her body stuffed into a furnace the night of her disappearance, New Haven police said last night in announcing the signed confession of Walter W. Law, 39, of New Haven, to the slaying.

Police Captain Raymond E. Egan and Detective Sergeant Howard O. Young said Law, a former superintendent of a Church Street building, signed the confession after undergoing questioning for 48 hours.

They added that several details of the slaying were being withheld by them and there were others which the prisoner refused to disclose.

FDR DEMANDS CONGRESS GIVE SOLDIERS VOTE

President's Message Explodes Like Bomb—Republicans Guffaw and Boo

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—(P)—President Roosevelt demanded of congress today adequate federal machinery for fighting soldiers and sailors to vote next fall, and bluntly labelled a state's-rights vote plan "a fraud upon the American people."

In unusually vehement language, the president said "our millions of fighting men do not have any lobby or pressure group on Capitol Hill to see that justice is done for them" and added: "I am sure that I can express their wishes in this matter and their resentment against the discrimination which is being practiced against them."

Mr. Roosevelt sent the capitol a special message on the soldier-vote issue. In an admitted departure from custom and precedent, he even took notice of house legislative procedure which might permit final action on the soldiers' vote issue without a roll call vote, and flung a challenge to congressmen "to stand up and be counted."

"There are times, I think, when the president can speak as an interested citizen," Mr. Roosevelt said. "I think there would be widespread resentment on the part of the people of the nation if they were unable to find out how their individual representatives had expressed themselves on this legislation—which goes to the root of the right to citizenship."

"I deem the legislation imperative. It certainly would appear unnecessary that our soldiers and sailors and merchant marine have to make a special effort to retain their right to vote."

The Chief Executive described the bill passed by the senate Dec. 3 as "meaningless." This measure would turn the servicemen's vote problem over to the states.

The moment the Senate clerk finished reading the President's message, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) jumped to his feet and declared: "I resent, as one of those who propose state voting for the armed services, the designation of that proposal as a fraud."

Taft said the President had delivered "a direct insult to the Senate and a direct insult to the House" with his message endorsing the Green-Lucas federal vote bill now pending in the Senate.

"Some of the statements are not true," Taft continued. "Some of them are argumentative." Republicans guffawed loudly during the reading of the President's message in the House, and again when the clerk had finished it.

Their laughs were particularly loud when the clerk read a paragraph mentioning the President's hesitancy "to say anything to the Congress on this matter" and again when he asserted a right to speak "as an interested citizen." Boos mingled with the laughs.

Food Shortages Feared As Result Of Drought

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—(P)—Continued drought in the midwest corn belt as well as in other sections and lack of food reserves today were cited by an American Dairy Association official as "meaning trouble for the future civilian food supply."

Manager Owen M. Richards, reporting to the association's executive committee on drought conditions after a recent western tour, asserted growing scarcities of additional foods, including bread and other wheat products, "loom as probabilities."

He said America, in peacetime, had large food reserves, which normally carried over from year to year, but in war time these

Germans Blamed For Massacre Of Poles

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
SMOLENSK, U. S. S. R., Jan. 26.—(P)—A party of American and British correspondents were taken today to the grim Katyn forest 10 miles outside Smolensk and shown the scene where a special Soviet investigating commission charges the Germans shot thousands of Poles one by one in August and September of 1941. The German tale that the Poles were shot by the Russians in March and April of 1940 was described by the commission as "provocation."

The correspondents were shown bodies in mass graves, medical experts had made post mortem examinations and the special commission heard testimony of witnesses. Correspondents were shown documents taken from Polish bodies dated as late as June 20, 1941, which would make the German explanation of the mystery impossible, saw evidence that the bodies had been in the ground only about two years and heard testimony confirming the Soviet version. Prof. Victor Ilyich Prozorovsky, senior medical expert of the Soviet Atrocities Commission was in charge of the exhumation. He said more than 700 bodies already had been removed and estimated the total at 11,000. In two graves the bodies lay in neat rows, fully clad in uniforms

Argentina Breaks Relations With Axis And Starts Round-up Of Spy Suspects

BRITISH TROOPS in Bren carriers lose no time in moving to inland positions after they hit the beach during the surprise landing in the rear of the German lines south of Rome. Jap Air Disaster At Rabaul Increased By Another Attack

By The Associated Press
Japanese plane losses throughout the embattled Pacific rose above the 400 mark for January today after another Allied raid on bomb-torn Rabaul that cost the enemy between 54 and 69 aircraft.

In shipping too, the Japanese received hard new blows as U. S. 14th Airforce fliers—credited with sinking 17 enemy ships during December—destroyed five vessels totaling 9900 tons off Fuchow on the east China coast.

Lashing at Japanese communications in southern Burma, Allied fighter planes damaged more than 60 river craft and a steamer. New Delhi also reported fresh fighting in the northern Burma campaign to clear the way for the new Ledo Road to China.

The latest of the smashing, time-table strikes at Rabaul brought the statement by Maj. Gen. Ralph Mitchell, commander of south Pacific air squadrons, that it was the most successful offensive operations in the history of Solomons warfare.

American and New Zealand Units, attacking the Lakunai Air-drome in pre-dawn and afternoon sweeps Sunday, shot down 46 Japanese interceptors for certain and 15 probables. In addition, eight parked planes were destroyed. The raiders lost two bombers and three fighters, but one bomber crew and a fighter pilot were rescued.

On the basis of communiques, Allied planes have wiped out more

Action Completes Pan-American Unity With 21 Countries Now Lined Up Against Common Foe -- Uncle Sam Silent With 'Wait and See' Attitude Toward Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 26.—(P)—Argentina severed diplomatic relations with Germany and Japan today to complete belatedly a solid stand by the Western Hemisphere against the Axis.

The last of 21 republics in the Americas to break off relations with Germany and Japan, Argentina announced the action after a long night of conferences among leaders of the government of President Gen. Pedro Ramirez.

MEDIATION BY U. S. DECLINED BY RUSSIA

Rejection of Offer To Settle Polish Row Polite

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—(P)—Secretary of State Hull announced today that Russia had rejected the offer of the United States to employ its "good offices" in restoring diplomatic relations between Poland and Russia.

Hull made the announcement at a news conference. He brought out that the Russians took the position that they do not feel the situation between themselves and Poland is right for successful use of the U. S. offer at this time.

The reply states, Hull said, that the Soviet government does not feel that conditions have yet ripened to a point where such good offices could be used to advantage.

The Russians began their note of rejection, he said, with an expression of appreciation for the offer.

3 MORE JAP PLANES SHOT DOWN BY YANK

Ironton Pilot Gets One To Bring Total To Ten

VELLALAVELLA, Solomon Islands, Jan. 22.—(P)—(Delayed)—Big blond Bob Hanson, currently the hottest fighter pilot in the Allied South Pacific front, shot three more Japanese fighting planes out of the skies over New Britain today, running his score to 14 with an average of one a day for the past week.

Twenty Zeros intercepted the Marine Corsairs which were escorting medium bombers on a midday attack on Lakunai air-drome at Rabaul.

Hanson and his mates flew into the thickest of the fighting and downed 10 enemy planes for sure and one probable, without loss to themselves.

Among Hanson's successful squadron mates was Capt. Harold Spears, 24, of Ironton, O., who got one and another probable for a total of 10 definite victories.

While these discussions were in progress, it also was revealed today, police were busy rounding up many persons—some reported to be members of Argentine society—in an extensive espionage ring which has been operating in the country.

President Ramirez himself arranged to broadcast his government's decision to the people.

Following Ramirez' signing of the decree ending relations, it was announced the German and Japanese ambassadors would be handed their passports immediately.

The action today, two years after most other Latin American countries had cut their connections with the Axis, followed an announcement last week of the arrest by the British of an Argentine consul when his boat stopped at Trinidad en route to Europe.

The consul, Omar Alberto Helmut, was on his way to Barcelona, Spain, when he was removed from the boat January 22 and charged with spying.

Acting on evidence supplied by British authorities, Argentina began rounding up numerous persons implicated in the ring.

(Montevideo dispatches said the espionage ring had been working in close touch with the German and Japanese embassies in Buenos Aires.)

(Subversive activities, apparently originating in Argentina, were held responsible by the United States, Britain and other countries for the overthrow of the Bolivian government in December. Argentina alone has seen fit to

FIVE WOMEN KILLED IN FACTORY FLAME

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—(P)—Five women employees of a northwest side war plant lost their lives late last night when they were trapped by flames of a fire which attacked the one-story building.

Police Detective Bernard Kazmarek said the bodies of the five women were found after a search of the ruins by police and firemen. Several women employees of the plant, which manufactures electrical equipment for the Army and Navy, were rescued through the skylight of the washroom where they had been trapped.

Present Price Control Policies Call For Record Farm Output

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—(P)—War Food Administrator Marvin Jones today announced the minimum levels at which the government proposes to support producer prices of more than 30 farm commodities under a 1944 production program calling for a record output.

Under present price control policies, the support program would cost the government between $600,000,000 and $800,000,000, the final amount depending on volume of production.

The cost would be incurred in assuring farmers returns in excess of OPA ceilings on some crops.

Commodities which would be supported at levels above OPA ceilings include the vegetable oil crops (peanuts, soybeans, and flaxseed), vegetables for processing, sugar, dry beans, cheddar cheese, some fruits for processing, some fruit juices, and peanut butter.

The new support program, which is designed to assure farmers returns in line with wartime production costs and hence to encourage maximum production, follow the general pattern of a similar program last year.

Slight increases were proposed for a number of commodities, including corn, wheat, cotton, peanuts, soybeans, flaxseed, sugar beets, sugar cane, sweet potatoes, barley, and grain sorghums. Only hogs will be subject to a lower support price, beginning next October.

NAZI LINE KEY IS CAPTURED IN 5TH ARMY DRIVE

Russians, Meanwhile, Seek To Take Railroad and Trap 250,000 Germans

By RICHARD McMURRAY

By The Associated Press
German defenses stiffened today in the beachhead driven painfully into their flank just south of Rome and weakened in the Cassino area where American troops advanced through minefields.

The shift of enemy strength suggested the climactic battle of Rome was about to be joined in earnest.

Americans and Britons south of Rome still were pressing forward, but with increasing difficulty. Front dispatches said the Allies were in clear view of Velletri, Gensano and Albano, the last 15 miles southeast of the capital.

Allied headquarters would not say Cassino had been captured although dispatches said the patrols found no Germans there.

Bern dispatches from the Italian frontier today said German authorities had proclaimed a state of siege in Rome as the progress of Allied troops fanning out from their Nettuno bridgehead touched off a new wave of anti-Nazi activity in the city.

These reports said Allied sympathizers had attacked German barracks and supply depots and that bombs had been thrown at military bureaus and at soldiers in the streets.

Several German officers were reported killed by these attacks in broad daylight.

A communique today said French troops of the Fifth Army "are engaged in a bitter see-saw struggle with the enemy" for possession of important heights northeast of Cassino.

Allied planes, meanwhile, smashed at bridges and roads and machine-gunned Germans in the area south of Rome. Eleven Nazi planes were shot down for a loss of three Allied ships.

As the Americans advanced through minefields north of Cassino they were subjected to heavy fire.

(An unconfirmed German broadcast intimated American troops had cut the Appian Way at Velletri, 24 miles southeast of Rome, after Allied bombs destroyed the town. At Velletri, 17 miles northeast of the original Allied landing point at Nettuno, the Appian Way and the Via Cassilina, the other great highway connecting Rome with southern Italy, are only eight miles apart. The Via Cassilina may be reached from Velletri by a good road running northeast to Valmontone.)

(The Rome correspondent of the Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyheter said British and American troops were fighting so close to Rome the action could be followed with glasses from Castel Romano, 12 miles south of the capital, and about 17 miles northwest of occupied Anzio on the coast.)

Earlier, a dispatch from Don Whitehead, Associated Press correspondent with the invasion forces, said Allied troops were "in perfectly clear view" of Velletri, Gensano and Albano, the last of which is 15 miles southeast of Rome. Gensano is five miles west of Lietri.

Whitehead said American troops supported by tanks are having to blast German machine-gunners from every farmhouse in their drive across the Mussolini Canal. For the first time in the Italian campaign, he added, the Americans are fighting over country suitable to tanks.

Allied planes in powerful numbers concentrated on slashing at enemy supply routes and troops between the Fifth Army front and the new beachhead, and the main line between Florence and Rome, which the Germans must

'HELP WIN WAR' IS KEYNOTE OF GRANGE IN 1944

Conference Tuesday Largest Held in County Grange History

Outlining a two-point program for Fayette County granges in 1944, Past County Deputy Ralph Nisley conducted the masters, lecturers and secretaries session at the annual grange conference, largest ever held in the county, at Chaffin School Tuesday night.

First point is to help win the war by buying bonds, food production, donating blood and participating in war activities such as the Red Cross and USO. Second, division of the plan is to work toward postwar planning by working with agricultural and other groups.

Because of the record attendance, 52, at the Tuesday conference, a second meeting is scheduled for June 7 at Chaffin School, breaking a precedent which decreed only one conference yearly. All six subordinate granges—Forest Shade, Good Hope, Selden, Madison Good Will, Marshall and Fayette—were represented at the conference.

Nisley declared the purposes of the grange were fraternity and education—education in right living and for youth. He pictured the duties of the three key officers of a grange, master, lecturer and secretary.

The master heads the grange and much of the success of the organization depends upon his leadership and personality. Nisley said. The lecturer is in charge of literary and educational programs while the secretary's task is the most exacting, that of keeping records of the grange.

Loren Hynes, grange insurance agent, reported the grange insurance system had fewer cases pending than any other company. He told of the insurance session at the state grange meeting in Cincinnati.

Home Economics Session
W. W. Montgomery, county agent, spoke at the home economics session, presided over by Mrs. Ralph Nisley, past county chairman, assisted by Mrs. Loren Hynes, chairman of county home economics committees and head of juvenile granges.

He suggested the home economics committees take initiative securing a county home demonstration agent. Fayette County has had no home demonstration agent as far as can be determined now, he explained as he stressed the need for such an officer.

Montgomery reviewed the history and close association of the grange and county extension service since the Smith-Lever act of 1914. During 1943, he recalled, home economics committees received a series of bulletins from the extension service.

"The Grange has taken an active part in the all-out food production program in Ohio, and has worked with other farm groups and federal agencies in that time," Montgomery said.

He suggested 4-H programs in lecture hours of granges during March 4 to 12, designated as 4-H mobilization week. He discussed also the soil conservation district law and recommended the granges might discuss the law by debate or panel discussions during next year.

February 10 was announced as the next meeting date for Pomona Grange. Arrangements for the covered dish supper preceding the conference were made by County Deputy Loren Hynes and Mrs. Hynes.

The 52 attending the conference were: Ralph Nisley, W. W. Montgomery, Loren Hynes, Loren B. Johnson, Winfred Morgan, W. H. Theobald, Lowell F. Engle, Wilma Allenberg, Robert H. Terhune, Dean Britton, Mrs. Beryl Cavine, Helen Engle, Nathaniel Tway, Robert E. Creamer;

H. H. Hiser, Harold Hewitt, Ora Kelley, Peter Smeltzer, Nelson Kelly, Mrs. Maggie Tway, Mrs. Nathaniel Tway, Eileen Tway, LaVerne Tway, Mrs. Harold Hewitt, Mrs. Clarence L. Campbell, Mrs. Emma A. Smeltzer, Mrs. Robert Coffman, Mrs. W. W. Montgomery.

Mrs. Muriel J. Hays, Mrs. Ralph Nisley, Mrs. Hugh Smith, Mrs. Loren D. Hynes, Mrs. Arthur Schlieter, Mrs. Wilbur Allenberg, Mrs. Louise Ritter, Mrs. Chester H. Jones, Mrs. Charles Graham, Mrs. Loren B. Johnson, Freddie LeBeau, Leona S. Creamer, Betsy LeBeau, Goldie Britton.

Charles W. Graham, Mrs. Charles Graham, Beryl Cavine, Chester H. Jones, Mrs. Dorothea Kelley, Mrs. Leota E. Kelly, Delbert C. Hays, Mrs. D. D. Weinrich, Jane Fults and Hugh Smith.

THOMAS CONNER RITES
HELD TUESDAY 2 P. M.

Funeral services for Thomas W. Conner were held Tuesday at 2 P. M. in the Littleton Funeral Home in Sabina.

Rev. H. S. Snyder of New Antioch was in charge of the services, delivering the sermon, offering prayer and reading the scripture. Mrs. H. L. Leasure of Wilmington prepared and read the memoir.

Mrs. H. H. Griffith sang the two hymns, "In The Garden"

Mainly About People

Mrs. Anna Bainter of Good Hope is quite ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. F. C. Prosch, friends will regret to learn.

Mrs. Robert J. Eppley, Jr. (Joan Fortney), who has been seriously ill for the past week, is now reported to be improving slowly.

Mr. F. C. Prosch entered Grant Hospital, Columbus, Tuesday for observation and treatment, friends will be interested to learn.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Anderson (nee Georgia LaFever) of Columbus, are announcing the birth of a son, Sunday, January 23, at White Cross Hospital, Columbus.

Mr. Sylvanus Daulton was removed from Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, Tuesday, to his home in Staunton, the Hook ambulance being used. Mr. Daulton is recovering after an appendectomy.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Wilt, who were painfully injured in an automobile accident near Ironton, January 13, have been released from the hospital and are now recuperating at their home near Middlefield. Their son, A-C Marilyn H. Wilt, who was also injured, is still a patient in the Veterans' Hospital, in Huntington, W. Va., and will be there for some weeks to come. However, he is also recovering nicely.

PUBLIC WELFARE MEN ARE HERE TUESDAY

Chief Probation Officer Discusses Delinquency

Two representatives of the State Department of Public Welfare, Randolph McAdams, chief probation officer, and Field Representative Davis, were in Washington C. H. Tuesday.

McAdams, in discussing juvenile delinquency, said, "It isn't delinquent children; it's delinquent parents. We can't expect children to rear the parents, if the parents are out doing the very things children are criticized for doing."

Davis made a routine call here to ask Common Pleas Judge H. M. Rankin if there were any problems here with which he might help. There is nothing now.

SPEEDERS LOSE GAS AS RESULT OF VIOLATIONS

Board Revokes Nine More Gas Rations After Complaints

Nine more Fayette County residents, including business men, war workers, laborers and one farmer, have had their gasoline rations revoked by the county War Price and Ration Board.

The board wants it understood that the regulations under which it operates must be carried out without partiality, and revocation of gasoline rations follows when complaints are filed with the board.

All violations for speeding mean loss of transportation as the violation is on the car and not the driver, which means that the owner of the car will be without transportation as long as the rations are revoked.

This applies to all passenger cars and trucks, it is pointed out by the board.

It was stated that some of the complaints which resulted in gasoline rations being revoked were filed after state highway patrolmen or other officers had clocked the motor vehicles traveling up to 70 miles per hour.

In such cases the officer halts the driver, gives him a ticket, takes his car number and files it with the State Highway Patrol at Columbus, which in turn sends notification to the local board, and under the regulations the local board must revoke the gas rations issued for the car involved.

There are no provisions permitting war workers or so-called war workers to violate the Victory Speed of 35 miles per hour, it is pointed out.

OFFICIALS ATTEND FEDERATION MEET

Post-war Planning Is Given Attention

County Commissioners Jean Nisley and Homer Miller, County Engineer Robert S. Willis and Councilman Richard R. Willis attended a post-war conference of the Ohio Good Roads Federation, held at the Deshler-Wallick Hotel in Columbus, Tuesday afternoon.

Governor John W. Bricker was one of the speakers, and disclosed that the State Treasury now has a surplus of $74,000,000 to bolster projects in the post-war program.

Other speakers included Justice Carl V. Weyandt, of the Ohio Supreme Court and Highway Director Hal G. Sours. Henry A. Williams of Columbus, was elected president of the organization.

LAW FOR SOLDIER VOTE DEMANDED BY FDR IN MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

The American people are very much concerned over the fact that the vast majority of the eleven million members of the armed forces of the United States are going to be deprived of their right to vote in the important national election this fall, unless the Congress promptly enacts adequate legislation.

Our men cannot understand why the fact that they are fighting should disqualify them from voting.

Out of 5,700,000 men in our armed forces at the time of the general elections of 1942, only 28,000 service men's votes were counted under the federal statute (A1942 law).

The need for new legislation is evident if we are really sincere and not merely rendering lip service to our soldiers and sailors.

I consider such proposed legislation (a bill passed by the Senate leaving the vote problem in the hands of the states) a fraud on the soldiers and sailors and marines now training and fighting for us and for our sacred rights. It is a fraud upon the American people.

Fayette County Soldier Wounded In Sicily Says Plasma Saved His Life

Soldiers Praise Plasma on All Battlefronts—Marine With One Leg, No Arms, 'Damn Glad' To Be Alive Because of Plasma—Unit Coming Here February 7 and 8

When the mobile unit comes here February 7 and 8, anybody who gives blood can "bet their life" they will help, Pvt. Merrill Hoppes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam J. Hoppes on the Rockbridge Road, writes from Fletcher Hospital in Cambridge.

Pvt. Hoppes is recovering from a wound in his abdomen caused when he stepped into a land mine in Sicily. "Blood plasma helped to save my life," he said. He was operated on for the second time when he reached Fletcher Hospital after flying from Sicily to North Africa where he stayed in a base hospital before coming to Fletcher.

Over 65 people are registered now for the unit's two day stay at Grace Methodist Church, Miss Clara Story, registrant, said. Donors may be from 18 to 60, although minors, from 18 to 21 must have parents' consent before blood may be given.

The 340 pints of blood asked from Fayette countians will go to men like Pvt. Hoppes, men like Marine Cpl. Anthony Cassamento who said: "I was shot up all over and I was bleeding for about an hour and a half. I was shot in the chest, shoulder, arms, through the neck and ear and my fingers were broken by hand grenades. I tore the shirt off a Jap and tied up my own neck to help stop the bleeding, and then I crawled up on the hill and some Marines found me and took me in. I was given a quart of plasma and later a thought of blood, although Dr. Bones thought I could not possibly live. I have seen plasma save an awful lot of lives. It certainly saved mine."

A 24 year old Marine sergeant who lost two arms and one leg at Guadalcanal says this: "I'm darn thankful to be alive. Boy, I sure think plasma is swell."

What is needed is a complete change of machinery for absentee balloting which will give the members of our armed forces and merchant marine all over the world an opportunity to cast their ballots without time-consuming correspondence and without waiting for each separate state to hold its primary, print its ballots and send them out for voting.

The recent bills (pending in Senate) proposed by Senators Green and Lucas . . . seem to me to do this job. They set up proper and efficient machinery for absentee balloting.

There is nothing in such a proposed statute which violates the rights of the states. The federal government merely provides quick machinery for getting the ballots to the troops and back again. . . . To members of the armed forces and merchant marine, I deem the legislation imperative.

Our millions of fighting men do not have any lobby or pressure group on Capitol Hill to see that justice is done for them. . . . The American people cannot believe that the Congress will permit those who are fighting for political freedom to be deprived of a voice in choosing the personnel of their own federal government.

I think most Americans will agree with me that every member of the two Houses of Congress ought to be willing in justice "to stand up and be counted."

A mixture of bismuth and mercury forms the amalgam that "silvers" mirrors.

FAYETTE COUNTY PUTS $148,739 TOWARD QUOTA

Seven stacks of $1000 bills as tall as the A.I.U. building in Columbus would equal the nation's $14,000,000,000 Fourth War Loan quota.

Fayette Countians are called upon to furnish 906 of these $1000 bills. Up until Wednesday, purchases by individuals totaled $148,739.75—purchases made by 810 people.

Leaving $757,260.25 for the rest of the people and corporations to buy between now and February 15, the day-by-day purchases should average something like $37,863.

Up until now, purchases have averaged only $16,526, a figure which is probably accounted for because of the emphasis placed on individual purchases, sales of "people's" E, F and G bonds. After February 1, the corporations, factories and companies will be up to bat.

JANE ANN M'COY TO BE ON RADIO SUNDAY

Appears on Dr. Pollack's Hour On WKRC

All bus drivers will take pupils to their homes Friday noon, Hilly said. Music supervisors will assist with the program.

BATTLE FOR ROME NEARS AFTER FIFTH ARMY TAKES KEY TO GERMAN LINE

use to get reinforcements to the Rome area.

The Allies flew 1,100 sorties over the beachhead yesterday, compared with 60 by the Nazis.

The Russians fought inside Krasnogvardeisk, rail bottleneck 30 miles south of Leningrad, increasing the isolation of a quarter million Germans on the northern front. They advanced to the last 50 mile stretch of the Leningrad-Moscow trunk line held by the Nazis.

The Germans were reported fighting south of Leningrad. Booty included an entire German military train stocked with tanks and guns, the Soviet communiqué said.

The Germans were reportedly rushing reinforcements from bases further west to meet the accelerated Soviet drive west of Novgorod, which overran 10 important localities in the Lake Ilmen area yesterday and plunged on, buttressed by armored trains from which great railway guns swept the ranks of the fleeing Nazis.

Allied bombers and fighters hammered targets in northern France for the fourth straight day today after swift RAF Mosquitos had broken a one-night lull in the Allied aerial offensive by stabbing at unspecified objectives in western Germany.

RAF raiders also struck at northern France during the night operations, which were carried out without loss, said the Air Ministry.

U. S. Thunderbolts dropped bombs on enemy airfields in Holland, yesterday, for the second time in three days as other Allied planes rocked the French coast for the third straight day and the fifteenth time this month.

The American operations were carried out without loss.

Yugoslav partisans lost Tuzla in eastern Bosnia after exacting 500 casualties and won Mkonjicgrad near their capital of Jajce.

For the fourth successive day, Allied planes bombarded northern France—a likely invasion site. In daylight yesterday, American Thunderbolts struck targets in Holland.

Allied air power in Italy pounded ceaselessly at roads and bridges which the Germans must use to reach the crucial Rome front. The battle areas were constantly covered by Allied planes.

Bank Financing For The "FARM FRONT"

We make loans to farmers for many purposes -- including the purchase of additional machinery and equipment.

If you need MONEY . . . now . . . for repairs and upkeep, for stock feeding and breeding or other farm purposes, come to this bank. We welcome opportunities to soundly use our resources on the "farm front," where the 1944 battle for greater food production is to be waged.

We are also ready to discuss loans to complete the purchase of FARM MACHINERY, which is now in increased production. If you require more machinery or equipment, consult us about financing on these transactions.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

From the military standpoint things go well for the Allies in all theaters of our global war, but while the enemy's striking-power at arms is visibly deteriorating, he is managing by persistent and insidious means to create international political crisis which are a grave menace to the security of the United Nations.

The evil Hitler's propagandists are busy trying to cause dissension among the Allies, especially among Russia, Britain and America, upon whose amicable cooperation depends the winning of this war and the peace to follow. His agents are boring into the vitals of every country, including our own, in an effort to create internal disorganization and thus damage the war effort.

All this is a part of Der Fuehrer's general strategy of fighting delaying actions, both military and political, in the hope that time will produce some upheaval which will give him the victory that is denied his armies. Protraction of the war is his last desperate chance of salvaging something from the wreckage he has created.

One of the fields to which the Axis has been devoting tremendous energy is South America. The Hitlerian purpose is two-fold: To create bases which will give him immediate help in his war against the forces of civilization, and to try to disrupt the unity of the Western Hemisphere and thus weaken the strength of the Allies to make war.

There is still another factor, for the German and Japanese agents not only are inspired by a desire to help the Axis, but are taking advantage of the opportunity to feather their own nests. Some of the greatest individual graft the world has known has grown out of the unholy Axis operations. Count Ciano, Mussolini's un-lamented crown-prince and son-in-law, was reputed to have made himself one of the world's richest men. The fat Hermann Goering, runner up to Hitler, started from nothing and is now a croesus.

One of the latest hot-spots in the Western Hemisphere is Bolivia, whose people we are happy to count among our friends, but which seems to have stubbed its toe badly in permitting the creation of a government which other leading South American nations have hastened to disavow and which both the United States and Britain have refused to recognize. The United States flatly says the Bolivian coup was linked with a "general subversive movement" to undermine the Allied war effort in this hemisphere.

One of the most significant things in connection with this development is the solidarity of the United States and Britain on the question. There is a school which has thought that because of American and British rivalry for South American trade these two great powers might not stand together on political issues of the Western Hemisphere—that Britain always would be open for South American trade even if the United States was not.

That's an argument not founded on sound reasoning. One point on which Britain and the United States cannot differ is the danger of Nazism and Fascism to democracy and religion. The Allies aren't going to extend themselves to the limit to uproot these isms and destroy them in the Axis countries and then overlook them in other parts of the world.

Thus those countries which now give aid and comfort to the Axis are building on shifting sands. The Axis soon will disappear from the face of the earth, and its friends cannot expect then to be received with open arms by the United Nations which have stood together to destroy it. To the victors belong the spoils.

'BIG INCH' IS HANDLING HUGE AMOUNT OF OIL

Line Is Expected To Carry At Least 100,000,000 Barrels in 1944

During the first partial year of its operation, the "big inch" pipeline moved 70,680,000 gallons of crude oil from Texas, through Fayette County and to the east coast. Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes announced Sunday.

The 24-inch pipeline was designed to carry 300,000 barrels daily, but has been running as high as 335,000 barrels part of the time, the reports indicate.

During the present year, according to Ickes, the big conduit should carry at least 100,000,000 barrels of crude oil from Texas to the east coast.

"This will aid materially," the administrator declared, "in keeping the essential east coast refineries operating and in reducing the amount which must be brought into the east coast by tank cars, barges and tankers. It has been the biggest single factor making possible the large increase in refinery production on the east coast."

The big steel tube 1362 miles long, began delivering oil over its western leg, from Longview, Tex., to Norris City, Ill., on February 10, 1943. Seven months later, in August, oil was flowing through its entire length to the Atlantic coast.

Ickes, in a review of the status of the entire pipeline program, said that while the extension system is nearing completion "it is by no means the whole answer to the over-all problem of getting oil to all the places it is needed."

"However," Ickes said, "we should be much more sore-pressed today had not most of these pipelines been completed."

A New York dispatch says: "More tank ships are needed to carry crude petroleum and gasoline to the east coast despite the 'big inch' and 'little big inch' pipelines, oil industry spokesmen say."

"Some see a possibility for new and more stringent restrictions on the use of gasoline in the east and the words 'serious shortage' crop up in discussions of the probabilities of the next few months."

So far no leaks of consequence have been found along the lines in Fayette County.

A break in the "big inch" was found near Little Walnut Creek on Route 23, in Pickaway County Friday, and the pumping closed down until repairs could be made. The break was the first of consequence reported in this part of Ohio.

FAYETTE COUNTY TEACHERS HELP IN POLIO DRIVE

Goal of $500 Sought by Next Monday When Drive Ends

Fayette County's Infantile Paralysis drive is brought home to every school-age boy and girl in the county through teachers in the city and county school systems, R. M. Winegardner, chairman, said today.

He explained the teachers took collections in their classrooms and devoted time to explaining what the drive does for people stricken with infantile paralysis. The idea was engineered by W. J. Hilty, superintendent of county schools and A. B. Murray, superintendent of city schools, Winegardner said.

This year, a $500 total is hoped for; last year's total collection was $189. Half of all money collected in the county, whether dropped into the little blue coin boxes in business houses or sent directly to the White House, comes back here to be used to help victims of the disease in the county. Hospitalization and other kindred expenses come from this fund.

"We haven't had to spend much money here the last couple of years—thank goodness," Winegardner commented, adding "you never can tell when we will need it."

The drive here, which began January 15, will end next Monday.

Rationing Sidelights

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Realizing that it is impossible to cover the complete field of rationing and price control in the regular news stories, the Record-Herald will publish some sidelights on this complex and comprehensive government wartime program from time to time as warranted. The facts and figures will be obtained from the county's War Price and Rationing Board.)

Green stamps K, L and M will be valid for purchasing processed foods from Feb. 1 through March 20, the Office of Price Administration (OPA) announced today.

This series of green stamps will be the last to be used for processed foods. With the introduction of ration tokens Feb. 27, the blue stamps in the same book will come into use.

Both types of stamps will be valid between Feb. 27 and March 20, when the green series expires.

OPA also announced that, contrary to original plans, ration tokens will be given as change for green stamps as well as blue.

Since the green stamps will expire long before the blue, OPA urged housewives to plan to use their supply of green stamps before spending any of the new type during the period both are valid.

The green stamps will continue to have carrying denominations of 8, 5, 2 and 1 points, while the blue will have a uniform value of 10 points.

Outlook For February

Less meat, with higher point values, with no changes in pork products;

More butter but no reduction in points;

No change in the shoe allotment;

The continuing threat of reduction in gasoline allowances in the face of a "discouraging outlook";

No change in the supply of new tires, but fewer used and reclaimed tires;

Not enough oil for civilians unless usage is cut down at once, and

No change in the sugar allowance.

Power To Destroy

Federal income taxes have increased 700 per cent since Pearl Harbor, says Paul Mallon, with the brunt of the burden falling on already overtaxed sources of revenue. Taxes have now reached the point where it is no longer likely that extensive new industries will develop from accumulated savings. Neither the money nor the incentive is left for such purposes after the tax bills are paid.

Fifteen state legislatures have resolved for a constitutional amendment limiting Federal income taxes in peacetime to 25 per cent. The instinct of self preservation should stimulate other states to similar action. Unrestricted Federal taxing power in the hands of a strong central government has become a menace to the sovereignty of the states, as well as to the freedom of the individual.

Somewhere in America

Somewhere in America, a President is being born.

The thin wail of an infant's voice pierces the symphony of a forest; competes with pounding surf on an ocean-side; penetrates farm-field or factory-town; hits the side of a mountain to echo into valley or along lake or river shore.

Many of us will not be here when that same voice is heard again the world around—when in decades to come, it swears to the most sacred oath that can be given to one of American birth... at the inaugural of that infant as President.

Since more than 200 years ago, there have been 32 such wailing infants, who, grown in stature and wisdom, have been chosen freely from among their fellow-men to voice that same mighty oath.

Dark days confronted some of them, days like the present when the cause of democracy was sorely threatened, internally and from abroad.

Yet the nation that destiny picked those 32 children to lead, now helps lead a world toward freedom for all in a global struggle against tyranny, slavery, hate, and force.

In support of the faith these leaders kept, the men and women of American industry are devoting their every hour and the products of those hours, to insure the certainty that the years shall witness the infant whose cry we hear tonight selected and elected by the free choice of all, unhampered, without dictation—an American President.

It is for this and for the rights that go with it that we work, we fight, we die, even as those who forewent us.

Why We Are Winning

Until recently the full story of the development and production of 100 octane aviation gasoline has been a military secret. But at last some breathtaking statistics are being released. Following are a few of them:

1. One thousand 4-engine bombers use 1,800,000 gallons of 100 octane gasoline on a 6-hour mission.
2. In January, 1942, only 22 refineries were producing 100 octane gasoline

Flashes of Life

Music In Mess Tunes Up Appetites

SHAW FIELD, S. C.—A sharp increase in food consumption and a reduction in eating time was recorded when music was added to the menu at the 1000-man mess of this Army basic flying school. "A good appetite is the sign of a healthy soldier," Mess Lt. Marvin K. Wilcoxson explained, "and you ought to see those guys go to town on the soup when we play Pistol Packin' Mama!"

But Shop Lifters Had Last Laugh

Durham, N. C.—Irritated by shoplifting, a local department store loaded empty parcels with the admonition "Crime Doesn't Pay," and placed them at convenient places on the counters.

The sales clerks were greatly amused at the gradual disappearance of these dummy parcels. But a check-up at the end of the day revealed that shoplifters also had made off with their usual quota of merchandise.

Words of Wisdom

Man never fastened one end of a chain around the neck of his brother, that God did not fasten the other end around the neck of the oppressor.—Lamartine.

Hints on Etiquette

Don't take every accidental bit of neglect or slight as a deadly insult. Have enough self-respect to pass such a matter off and consider it was unintentional. Be as courteous and friendly to those who were guilty of the negligence as you were before. That is good common sense as well as good manners.

Today's Horoscope

A birthday today means that you are endowed with great personal magnetism. You will always be surrounded by many people, so enjoy them. Your affections are not very deep, and you will never have a great or enduring love, although you will be loyal and true to the one you choose as a life partner. Considerable expansion of fortune by legacy, unexpected sources and vocation is envisaged for you in the next 12 months. Happiness also will be experienced, and some extravagance. Deal with property and the aged. Exceptionally ingenious will the child be who is born on this date. He or she will hold novel views, possess a lively imagination and be most fortunate, popular and over-generous.

or components of 100 octane. There are now more than 100.

3. United States and Caribbean refineries are supplying today 88 per cent of the 100 octane gasoline used by the United Nations.

4. To train one pilot requires consumption of 12,500 gallons of aviation gasoline.

5. One thousand 4-engine bombers, flying to an objective 1,000 miles away, and using 100 octane gasoline, can carry 5,000,000 more pounds of bombs than could be carried if ordinary pre-war aviation gasoline was used.

6. 100 octane gasoline was specifically developed for combat use.

7. 100 octane gasoline was a laboratory curiosity as recently as 1933, at which time its cost would have been $16 a gallon. The first 100 octane sale, made to the Army in 1934, was at $2 a gallon. Today 100 octane gasoline is being bought by the government at less than 15 cents a gallon.

These are a few of the achievements of a single industry in wartime America. The cold figures describe better than glowing phrases the value of unrestricted individual initiative; the kind that built the oil industry and now brings victory within our grasp.

Gallbladder Useful as a Storehouse

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE ORGANS we house within our body might be compared to our relatives. There are all kinds of relatives and all kinds of organs. The regular hardworking kind—the heart is representative of him, works all his life and never gives any trouble until he is old or something very considerable annoys him. The artistic, excitable, moody, flighty one—the brain surely. The silent one that never, or almost never, gives any trouble—the spleen.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Then there is the problem relative—useless, lazy, always making trouble—certainly the gallbladder is the analogy for him.

The gallbladder practically never obtrudes itself on our consciousness unless it has decided to go on a spree. Then, no matter what else we are doing or what we want to do, we have to get up and put on our clothes and go down to the police station and bail him out. And a sorry looking dejected bum he is at such times—full of bile and venom and with a hangover you could cut with a knife.

Function of Gallbladder

Lots of people get along well without the gallbladder—glad to get it out of the house, never knew what genuine comfort was until it was gone.

Is the gallbladder of any use at all? Does it perform any useful function? There is always somebody to stand up for the black sheep of the family. Let us see if anything favorable can be said for the gallbladder.

The liver, one of the largest and busiest organs of the body, has many functions, not the least of which is the formation of bile, which is carried by a series of ducts to the intestine where it is employed chiefly in the digestion of fats.

Nature, like any thrifty person, guards against the rainy day. The liver is larger than it need be and produces more bile than we can ordinarily use. So it provides also a storehouse for the extra bile which can be called on when needed—and that storehouse is the gallbladder.

Observing It Work

It is possible to give a person a dye by mouth which is concentrated in the gallbladder and which will cast a shadow on the X-ray plate. So we can watch it at work. As soon as a meal gets into the intestine, especially a fat meal, the gallbladder contracts and empties its contents into the intestine.

So a physician, if he wants to drain the gallbladder by Nature's method, gives the patient a high-fat meal. If he wants to soothe it and keep it quiet he gives a fat-free meal.

When the gallbladder has been removed surgically the main bile duct usually swells up and takes the place of the reservoir for bile the gallbladder once was.

Whenever there is any stagnation in Nature trouble is likely to breed. And in between meals the still quiet gallbladder full of bile is a fine spot for an infection to start. This may cause simple inflammation, or produce mucous around a bit of which a gallstone may form.

But the actions of the gallbladder raising Cain deserves an account by itself which we will give soon.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M. E.:—How important is it to keep on a diet for diabetes? Should you stick to diet only or must every diabetic use insulin?

Answer:—It depends on how severe the diabetes is. I should say that 60 per cent of all diabetics can get along on diet alone. But if you can't get enough nourishment through diet, use insulin so you can eat more. But diet is still the basis of diabetic treatment. How important—it depends on whether you think life or death is important.

E. K.:—What is a blue baby? What is the life expectancy of such a child?

Answer: A blue baby is cyanotic from a congenital defect of the heart. Dr. White, of Boston, reported a case of a man with such a defect who lived to the age of 67, but most of the cases do not reach 30.

Teaching Our Children

(Editor's Note: Typical daily lesson plans and outlines of teaching philosophies which have been filed with the county superintendent of schools are reproduced here to give readers a candid glimpse of the technique employed by the instructors in the county school system.)

Subject: History. Grade 5. (Bloomingtonburg).

Unit or assignment: Text—The Story of Our Country. Chapter X—England came into the race for America—One week's assignment.

1. OBJECTIVES:

GENERAL—To teach the part England played in the colonization of America.

SPECIFIC—To learn why the English had any claim to America. To learn who the men were who helped in the establishment of the colonies. To learn in what part of the country the colonies were established.

2. DEVICES OR APPROACH FOR REACHING OBJECTIVES. Children study together one day's assignment by having best readers chosen to read aloud—then discuss. Children will make charts in their History Notebooks showing, 1—Colony settled; 2—Time and by whom; 3, Children will draw maps free hand showing location of colony and any towns; 4—Teacher will test daily to see that children are learning. On Friday there will be a written quiz.

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE

THE SWEET, musical voice, saying that Richard Blythe had left the city, filled Mallory with exasperation. It showed on her face in a scowl and clamped lips. She ended the connection with her finger so that she could have the pleasure of slamming the receiver upon its support, yet not offend the Mexican girl's ears.

"That's enough o' that, young lady!" reprimanded Prism. "Ain't no way for a nice girl to be havin'."

"Well, I'm mad," "Angry, perhaps," corrected the colored woman. "Mad is for dogs."

"That's about how mad I am," "The thought of Prism's correcting the grammar of anyone made her burst into giggles. They did not last long, however. Again the scowl marred her beauty."

Prism crossed her arms over her fat bosom. "Any 'ignor moose' can tell you are in a tizzy. So what is it now?" she asked in a wary tone. "Course I know the Invisible Man is invisible again. I could get that from your conversation. But just remember your face afore you get all cranky over somebody and pucker up like you was an infant."

Her words acted the same as if her plump hand had passed across the girl's brow, her usual corrective measure. Mallory could feel her forehead smoothing itself.

She said, "I especially wanted to reach him. I wanted him for dinner tonight."

"All this howtowing to the Invisible Man," assailed the colored woman, "as if he was some great general goin' to lead you away from them baboons." As a relief to her jealousy, she picked up a davenport cushion and plumped it with hands that resembled boxing gloves. "Better we work on the baboons ourself." She straightened abruptly. "But we can't. They's gone."

Mallory Baker wondered how her maid could possibly know. "Who told you, Prism?"

"Nobody had to tell me. I was out there leanin' over the balcony watchin' all the ruckus along the boulevard. People goin' everywhere. An' I saw them come down an' get in their car."

"How did you know them? How were you sure?" Mallory had been relaxed in a large chair where she had slung herself, sideways, after her unfruitful telephone call to Richard Blythe. Now she sat erect; her gaze jabbed that of her maid.

Prism's eyes were slightly reproachful. "You told me, Miss Mallory, that he was wearin' a white scarf. Well, jus' like you told me, he was, and I spotted him, easy like. Faces just like cement, ain't they?" The girl nodded. That, she decided, was an expert description.

"So then," continued Prism, "after I seen them drivin' off down 'Riform boulevard I get on the telephone and ask at the desk could I speak to Mr. John Smith 'cause my Miss Mallory wanted to invite him an' his brother to dinner."

"You didn't know I intended havin' a dinner."

The Negroes fdgeted. "Of course not, Miss Mallory. I was just stratin' in. Like you said, I mean you would if we could get anybody to come." Disconsolation tinged her voice. "Wam't like this back in New York."

The singer said acidly, "Perhaps people are more interested in a free meal back there than they are in Mexico."

"You should know. You was always bringin' 'em home like starvin' kittens. Guys like Mr. Dargen."

"I had reference to Tod Patrick. You surely have not forgotten that he could do fairly well with the meal at our place?"

Prism grinned and said with smugness, "Why not? They's such good ones." She flicked dust from the mantel where actually there was no dust. "But, Miss Mallory, you're gettin' me off my subject. 'Cause next I said, over the telephone, how far had the gentlemen gone and maybe they'd be back in time. So then—"

She paused to give her mistress a look of sly self-satisfaction. "Then he says no, they'd gone to Vera Cruz and Wednesday was the very soonest they'd be back here."

Once more Mallory relaxed in the big chair. "Prism, you are simply wonderful."

"Yes'm." Her features were so agreeable with pleased conceit that they looked as if they had been oiled. "I think myself it's nice to know where them baboons are and for how long. Only thing—"

Her contented look was fading into a dismal one. "Only thing," she said again, "is we ain't really doin' nothin' toward puttin' them murderers where they belongs. We ain't 'accordin' to nothin' along them lines."

The blond girl looked thoughtful. "No, you're right. I had depended so much on Mr. Blythe."

"And he disappointed you?" inserted Prism knowingly. "Jus' goes to show you that your tuition don't amount to a darn. Mr. Tod is certainly right about that."

"Oh," snapped Mallory, "you think Mr. Tod is right about everything."

Her maid ignored that to ask, "What did he say when you told him about the murder?"

The girl squirmed uncomfortably. "Well, Prism, you see there was a slight hitch—"

"Oh, stop gruntin' and wigglin' an' fuss up that you didn't even tell him. Did you?" she demanded when her mistress remained silent for a few seconds.

"No." Again the blond girl sat up straight. She began to take off her shoes and stockings and unzip her dress, all with absent-minded gestures. "But I had a good reason not to, Prism. I had a dynamic reason. At first she had considered hiding the friendship between the brothers and Richard Blythe from her servant. Now that she had determined otherwise she raced on to get it said, 'Prism, hold on to something. The Invisible Man is a good friend of John and William Smith.'"

"How you know?"

"Hi, John. Hi, Bill," the girl imitated. "That's how Mr. Blythe greeted them. They came into Sanborn's while we were having breakfast. Doesn't that sound friendly?"

Prism picked up the girl's black suede pumps and began sitting them together. Her plump thumbs were looped through the straps that formed the heel-locks.

"Yeh," she agreed dolefully. "Still, Miss Mallory," she hoped aloud, "just ever-day friendly, not money-borrowin' friendly."

Mallory denied that optimism. "I'm afraid they're chummy, Prism. They sat down and ate with us."

"I still have indignation from the ordeal." "I don't wonder. I don't wonder. I'll get the disconcerted. Instead of rushing about that medicinal brand she screwed 'er face into a shape that even Mallory could not remember having seen before. "Jus' seems funny to me that we don't hear nothin' about no murder. Seems it would be in the papers."

"How would we know if it was?" asked the girl coldly. "We can't read the papers."

"That's right," moped the Negroes. "They even put the question marks upside down in these papers. 'Course they got a little bit in English for the Americans."

"Yes, but they use that space for items interesting to visitors. They aren't going to waste it on the murder of a peon." Her head turned on her stiff neck. "For it was a peon, Prism. A barefooted peon in one of those loose, white cotton suits they all wear."

Her sudden fright was contagious; it was stifening her maid's neck also. "I've just remembered that, Prism. I've just now remembered it," she whispered.

Prism whispered back. The same scared hoarseness was in her voice. "Jehosaphats, Miss Mallory, stop rememberin'. You've remembered too much already."

"Yes." The girl stood up and took off her dress. Prism, caught it as it fell toward the floor and put it across her fat arm. She trailed her mistress toward the larger bedroom.

"Now that the Invisible Man has turned out to be an oversized heel, Miss Mallory, you won't have to bother no more with him, will you?" Her familiar whoop rent the air.

It's harsh, unholy glee made Mallory's nerves feel as if they were being rubbed with sandpaper. "Prism," she snapped, "I'm tired of your jabbing as if you were at a Holy Ruler meeting. So stop it. She sat down before her dressing table mirror and fixed glum eyes upon her reflection. "Another thing, we'll be seeing Mr. Blythe around. Not to help with the mysterious murder, but to fend off Manuelita so that I can be more sure of Carlos. Now I'll have to wait until Wednesday, because I'll bet you a million dollars Richard Blythe has gone to Vera Cruz also."

"Couldn't you have 'Milita and 'Velvet Name' and some other man besides Mr. Blythe?"

"Certainly. If I knew any other man—"

There was something back of her maid's mysterious suggestion, the girl realized. "Who?" she demanded.

"Mr. Alexander." Prism's words faltered a bit before her mistress' angry expression. "He's in town, Miss Mallory."

Understand Your Federal Income Tax

RETURNS BY PERSONS

ABROAD

Federal income tax returns for the calendar year 1943 must, in general, be filed not later than midnight of March 15, 1944.

Both members of the armed forces and civilians who are outside of this country on March 15, 1944, when the Federal income tax returns are due, will have automatic postponement of the due dates for filing the returns and for paying the tax. In many cases, the postponements will make returns from these persons unnecessary until some time after they return to this country or after the end of the present war.

An extension for the military or naval forces who, when the return or payment is due, are on active duty outside the Americas or the continental United States (the States and the District of Columbia), or are on sea duty, permits postponement of the filing or payment until the 15th day of the fourth month following the month in which they cease to serve on sea duty or outside the continental United States, but not beyond the 15th day of the third month following the month in which the present war ends.

Earnings received from employment and personal services outside the United States (meaning, for this purpose, outside of the States, the Territories of Alaska and Hawaii, and the District of Columbia) are subject to income tax for 1943 unless the taxpayer establishes to the satisfaction of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue that he was a bona fide resident of a foreign country during the entire taxable year and that the earnings were received from an employer other than the United States or an agency of the United States.

A citizen of the United States who takes up residence outside of the United States in the course of the year is not entitled to the exemption for that year, but once bona fide residence in a foreign country or countries has been established, temporary absence therefrom in the United States on vacation or business trips will not necessarily deprive him of his status as a bona fide resident of a foreign country.

On the other hand, an American citizen who has resided abroad and changes his residence to the United States in the course of the taxable year may exclude from his gross income the earned income received from private employers from sources outside the United States, if he establishes (a) that he was a bona fide resident of a foreign country or countries for at least two years before such change of residence and (b) that the amount excluded from gross income was attributable to the period of foreign residence.

Where income is exempt because it was earned abroad, expenses incurred in earning this income may not be taken as a deduction.

This postponement of the due date applies also to civilian employees of the United States Government, or of Federal agencies, who are detained by an enemy government, or are beleaguered or besieged by enemy forces.

Other individuals who have been continuously outside the Americas for more than 90 days may postpone filing a return or paying a tax, until 90 days after they return—but not beyond the 15th day of the third month following the month in which the present war ends.

Civilian citizens of the United States who, on March 15, 1944, are residing or traveling outside of the States, the District of Columbia, and Hawaii but within the Americas are allowed an extension of time until June 15, 1944, for filing the 1943 annual tax returns. In the case of Alaska, citizens residing or traveling within the Territory must file their annual returns by March 15. Taxpayers who

Eighteen Couples Attend Formal In Greenfield

Approximately one hundred couples attended the formal dance given by the Girl Reserve Club and Hi-Y Clubs of McClain High School in Greenfield, Tuesday evening, which was held in the spacious elementary gymnasium. Invited guests for the evening were members of the Girl Reserve clubs and Hi-Y clubs of Greenfield, Hillsboro and Washington Court House.

The large room was attractively decorated with varicolored streamers on the walls and ceiling, and the band shell was enclosed with a white picket fence. A punch bowl in one corner of the room proved to be a popular spot with the young people, and at either end of the large room Girl Reserve and Hi-Y ensigns were placed.

Dancing to the music of the Roland Chase orchestra of this city was hilariously enjoyed from eight to twelve. The bright hues and colors of the chic formals the girls wore all blended to make a colorful background for the jolly occasion.

Among those from here attending were Rosemary Eckle and Jimmie Mitchell; Betty DeHeart and Chester Brown; Mary Loraine Boylan and Gordon Davis; David Thompson and Georgianne Griffith; Wilma Wright and Jack Pfeiffer; Helen McCoy and Jimmie Jenkins; Kathryn Howard and Dick Hankins; Virginia Mark and Ronald Rhoades; Janice Murray and John Craig; Bobby Lou Speaks and George Hall; June Cook and Delbert Brandenburg; Doris Brandenburg and Wayne Bowler; Mary Lou Pollis and Eddie DeHeart; Jane Anderson and Charles Baker; Jean Burke and Earl Rhode; Barbara Zimmerman and Robert Dawson; Norma Burr and Paul Hurt; Janet Rockhold and Maynard Kruger.

Anna Alleman, James Ater Are Married in Dayton

As the hands of the clock approached two, Sunday afternoon, January twenty-third, Miss Anna Laverne Alleman, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Hyer of this city and Mr. James F. Ater of Dayton, son of Mrs. Margaret Wolfe of New Holland, were united in marriage.

The ceremony was performed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Bradford of Dayton with Rev. Thomas D. Williams, pastor of the First Lutheran Church officiating at the single ring ceremony.

The bride chose for her marriage, a chic frock of navy blue crepe with white accessories. Her corsage was of white gardenias and her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Theodore Bradford, chose a frock of blue crepe and a corsage of yellow rose buds and dwarf iris.

Mr. Theodore Bradford, cousin of the groom, attended him as best man.

Mr. Ater is employed at Patterson Field, while the bride is employed at the Jackson Glove Company of this city.

Women's Bowling Loop Race Tightened by Last Matches

Light's Daughters did all they could but that was not enough to oust the faltering Markettes from first place in the Women's City League when the seventeenth round of bowling on the Main Street alleys Tuesday night went into the record books.

But, for the first time since the start of the circuit, the Record-Herald Newgirls were out of the cellar which they handed over to the Morris Store team.

The Daughters won all three of their games from the Morris Store outfit in spite of some tough competition, especially in the second game which was decided by 18 pins. They could not get out of second place, however, because the gap was too wide.

The Markettes held to their lead by the slimmest of margins by winning the first game from the Farmers' Exchange but their advantage was whittled down to the danger point when they lost the last two by eight and 13 pins respectively.

Hawkinson's Treaders closed a little closer to Craig's Airsteppers in their battle for fourth place by winning the last two games after dropping the opener.

The Business and Professional Women took the first and last games from the Newgirls but they dropped the middle tilt. That was enough to get the Record-Herald team off the bottom, for the Morris Store team, which had been there with them on even terms, lost all three of their games.

-Spyina- On Sports

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Don't laugh at that saddle shoe Susie who's trying manfully to lug your golf clubs around the course, mister. In another five years you may be taking lessons from her. . . That's the opinion of George Corcoran, the Greensboro, N. C., golf pro who first proposed a feminine P. G. A. . . Caddies always have grown up to become pros, George explains, and the gals who have taken up carrying the past year or two are no different. . . In fact, they're better prospects because girls naturally have better rhythm and are keener students. . . "They draw more accurate mental pictures and as a result develop better swings. They don't try to use brute strength like a man," says George. . . Okay, they're copy cats, if that will soothe your masculine vanity, but wasn't it Bobby Jones who called Joyce Wethered the best golfer, man or woman, he ever had seen?

Let's Call Names

The girls shouldn't have any trouble finding the 25 stars that Betty Hicks thinks will be needed to start a women's P. G. A. after the war. . . Besides Miss Hicks, Patty Berg, Helen Dettwiler and other well-known players, Corcoran names such expert golf teachers as Helen McDonald of Chicago, who "has taught a lot of big shots though they probably wouldn't admit it," Elizabeth Gordon of Providence, R. I., Virginia Pepp of St. Louis, Virginia Hayes of Kalamazoo, Mich., and Helen B. Schlemmer, author of a book on group golf instruction.

Bob Steuber's basketball teammates at Marquette are wondering why Bob, who played with the Chicago Bears during last fall's exhibitions and the first league game before the Navy sent him to Depauw, wasn't given a cut of the Bears' play-off dough. . . Under similar circumstances the Washington Redskins awarded Johnny Good-year a nice chunk of dough and the Giants did all right to Bydon Vosberg the year before.

and boots. In other pits three feet deep, which the Germans had not touched, the bodies lay in a jumble.

"In all cases of the 700 bodies already exhumed there was a bullet hole in the head," Prozorovsky said.

He said the condition of skulls, skin and hair showed the bodies had been in the ground only about two years.

On tables around a wood stove in the post mortem tent we correspondents saw the bodies being opened.

During an evening session of the full commission, Alexeieva, one of three Russian girls who did housework for the German "staff," said she heard trucks coming to the forest late in August and September of 1941, then regular shots sounding among the trees, after which the Germans would return to the house in excitement and down double rations of liquor.

She said she saw trucks bringing Polish prisoners into the forest, then heard shots at regular intervals and "I noticed fresh heaps of sand. They grew larger and larger." When she asked the Germans about it she said the Germans told her they were building fortifications.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—(AP)—A special Soviet investigating commission today placed the blame squarely on the Germans for the Katyn Forest massacre of 11,000 Polish war prisoners.

This incident led to a break in diplomatic relations between the Soviet and the Polish government in London when the latter asked the International Red Cross to investigate after Germans blamed the Russians for the atrocity.

The report may have an important bearing on the Russian-Polish border dispute, an issue which re-echoed in the House of Commons again today.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, sidestepping a showdown, reaffirmed Britain's policy of refusing to recognize wartime change in the map of Europe. But he recalled Prime Minister Churchill's statement that no changes would be recognized "unless they take place with the free consent and good-will of the parties concerned." (Under

RAMBLERS LOSE TO HOOSIERS

Those long shots by Coleman, the quickies from the corners by Rhonemus and the follow-through by Bach gave the Hoosiers a 33 to 27 win over the Ramblers in a nip and tuck basketball game on the Armory floor Tuesday night that was the highlight of the API League four-game program.

The Buckeyes took the measure of the Hoosiers in the other game by men's teams by a score of 22 to 11.

A bunch of girls from Madison Mills showed an API team of girls some of the fine points of the game as they piled up a 43 to 13 victory, the second in as many games.

JAP AERIAL DISASTER AT RABAU INCREASED WITH ANOTHER ATTACK

than 300 Japanese aircraft at Rabaul alone since January 1. Attempts to fight off attacks on the Marshall Islands and air battles in the China-Burma-India theater have cost the enemy at least 100 additional planes.

Marine Major Gen. Ralph Mitchell, commander of airforces in the Solomons, reported after the attack was announced today by headquarters it was one of the best coordinated raids since the war began and one of the most effective ever completed in this area.

First more than 40 dive bombers swept down on Lakunai, Rabaul's principal fighter strip, and silenced 17 anti-aircraft positions with 1,000-pound bombs. Then 18 torpedo bombers followed in to plant 2,000-pound bombs in the mid-section of concrete runways and on the coral extensions.

As the bombers turned away, 50 Japanese planes attacked, only to be set upon by 70 fighters piloted by American and New Zealand fliers. These shot down at least 32 and probably 46 enemy planes which were added to the eight planes destroyed on the ground.

Intramural Play Is Fast Although Scores Lopsided

Competition was keen and the play was fast and furious, although most of the scores were a bit lopsided when the eight teams of high school boys, two representing each class, tangled in the second round of the Intramural Basketball League schedule on the high school gym floor Tuesday night.

The biggest romp was taken by Bill Rudduck's Bloody Bucketers, a senior outfit, who beat the freshman crew of Dribblers coached by Bellar, Reno and Hughes. The score was 29 to 3 in favor of the Bloody Bucket boys whose Moyer and Kellough took advantage of the occasion to fatten their scoring records.

The sophomore Bulldozers, coached by O'Brien and Jenkins, beat the freshman Hot Shots but they had no picnic in racking up their 27 to 17 victory.

The sophomore Powder Puffs, coached by Graves and Chaney, were no match for Bud Carlson's senior Flying Tigers and went down under a 21 to 10 score as Denton led the attack with 10 points.

In the battle between the two junior teams, the Whitmore coached Jive Five, paced by Shaw with 14 points, beat the Hot Rocks, under the tutelage of Brandenburg and Parker, by a score of 27 to 6.

The Bloody Buckets and Flying Tigers, both senior teams, were at the top of the loop with clean slates after the first two rounds. Four teams were on even terms with one win and one loss in the middle of the standing and the Powder Puffs and Dribblers have yet to taste victory.

Moyer (Bucketers) is setting the pace in scoring with 19 points while a teammate, Steve Kellough, is close behind with 17. The other three among the first five are: Dowler (Hot Shots) with 16 points; Denton (Flying Tigers) with 15 and Shaw (Jive Five) with 14.

A fair-sized crowd, mostly high school students with a sprinkling of adult basketball fans, occupied the seats. Members of the Blue Lion varsity and reserve squads handled the officiating and coaching under the watchful eyes of Coaches Jerry Kissell and George Miraben.

3 GAMES AT ARMORY TUESDAY

Three basketball games were on tap for the Armory Wednesday night as the Independent City League moved on into its schedule smoothly after a somewhat hectic beginning.

Because of the thrills that developed in last week's games, in which not one was won by more than three points, a sizeable turnout was expected to pack the bleachers.

Bob Dunton, prey of the loop, was all smiles as he recalled how his prediction before last week's games that "there's going to be some hot basketball in this league" had come true. Then he added that it's going to be like that every time . . . there are some really good boys and some great team play, believe it or not, down there.

among the American nations and forestall possible stern action against it by the rest of the hemisphere.)

In Rio Janeiro, Gen. Arthur Rawson, who led the June revolution in Argentina, but later gave up the presidency to Gen. Pedro Ramirez, asserted today the Argentine rupture with the Axis "fulfilled the fundamental objective of the revolution." Rawson is now Argentine ambassador to Brazil.

UNCLE SAM WAITING

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—(AP)—United States government officials made no immediate comment today as Argentina announced her long-delayed break in diplomatic relations with the Axis powers, and there appeared to be a disposition here to adopt a "wait and see" attitude pending action on related orders which normally attend such breaks.

Such orders usually extend to suspension of communications facilities, like the radio-telephone and radio-telegraph, and termination of commercial relationships.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—AP—Grains exhibited a nervous undertone today with price trends undergoing a number of quick reversals. Trading was fairly active with both commission houses and local traders switching from one side of the market to the other. Good demand was reported for cash wheat but flour business was said to be at a standstill.

The chief factor on the bullish side was a government proposal for higher support levels for farm commodities this year. A bullish factor was Argentina's severance of diplomatic relations with the Axis countries, which some grain men felt would result in larger imports of Argentine wheat and rye.

NO SACRIFICE TO BUY WAR BONDS, ROTARIANS TOLD

Attendance Contest With Xenia Ends - Four Perfects Recorded by WCH Club

"Our war cause is in good hands overseas; have the boys over there as much reason to think the necessary backing is being carried through at home?" Thomas J. Kiphart asked Rotarians and guests when he spoke at their Tuesday luncheon meeting at the Country Club.

Kiphart is director of public relations of the Fifth Third Union Trust Company in Cincinnati. Harry Nagel, vice president of the company, accompanied him here.

It is not any sacrifice but an obligation we owe to our servicemen for the duration of the war to buy War Bonds, Kiphart said as he talked about what the Fourth War Loan Drive means in every community.

"Fayette County is to account for $906,000 in War Bonds from individuals and corporations during the drive. The county's reputation is again at stake, but Fayette County has always made good on her obligation," Kiphart said.

He discounted frequent rumors that War Bonds were cashed in constantly, saying 91 percent of the E, F and G bonds in the nation are still in the hands of the people.

"The more bonds we all buy, the less taxes and the less are the chances of serious inflation," Kiphart predicted. He was introduced by F. E. Hill, chairman of the Fayette County War Finance Committee.

John Callender, torpedoman aboard a destroyer, here on a short leave, told the group some of his experiences during his six Atlantic crossings.

The attendance contest with the Xenia club closed Tuesday with four 100 percent attendance records for Washington C. H. Whether or not the Xenia club meets this record, officials here don't know yet. When the winner of the contest is determined, plans for a get-together and banquet for the two clubs will be made. The losing club will be host.

MRS. ALICE SHELLEY CLAIMED BY DEATH

Spent Entire Life on the Farm Where Born

Mrs. Alice Shelley, 82, of the Center community, who had spent her entire life on the farm on which she was born, died Tuesday night at 11:15 P.M., following a several weeks' illness.

Mrs. Shelley was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Gray and is survived by two daughters and eight sons: Mrs. Frank Creamer, Xenia; Mrs. Charles Crone, this city; John, of Cincinnati; Percy, Xenia; George and Harry, this city; Phillip at home; Raymond and Hubert, Sabina, and Alva, of near Plymouth.

A daughter, Mrs. Ora White-side, died in 1933. Also surviving are a sister, Mrs. Ella Thornburg, Indiana, 18 grandchildren and 14 great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the Littleton Funeral Home Friday at 2 P.M. Friends may call at the residence until 10:30 A.M. Friday.

JANE A. M'COY, MISS KECK, ON PROGRAM

Jasper Farm Bureau To Hear Readings, See Dances

Jane Ann McCoy, daughter of V. R. McCoy, and Miss Sara Keck, dramatics instructor at the high school, will share honors for the program slated at the Jasper Township Farm Bureau banquet Friday at the Milledgeville school house.

Jane Ann will dance four groups—military strut and variety rhythm, hula tap and sweet rhythm, fascination steps and fast taps, and intricate rhythm and the Bill Robinson walk.

Miss Keck will give three sets of readings, a group of mood poems, a group of dialect poems and "The Waltz," by Dorothy Parker.

SABINA NEWS RECORD TO CONTINUE PUBLICATION

The Sabina News-Record will continue publication although 50 percent of its staff is gone, it was learned today. The editor, R. A. Gaskins, died recently and the assistant editor, Cpl. R. Richard Gaskins, is serving overseas.

Rev. Stephen Nenoff, pastor of Albany Baptist Church, will be the special guest speaker Thursday and Friday at the Harmony Methodist Church. Rev. Charles P. Taylor, pastor of the Harmony Church, announced today.

Rev. Stephen Nenoff

Rev. Nenoff, former newspaperman and writer, is an authority on international affairs. He speaks seven languages and is a graduate of Sofia Theological Seminary, International College in Elsnore, Denmark and the Philadelphia School of the Bible. He was educated to be a Catholic priest, Rev. Taylor says, adding he later went into the Christian ministry after his conversion in Philadelphia. Rev. Nenoff will be the main speaker at services beginning at 7:30 P.M. Rev. Taylor invites everyone to attend the services.

T. E. BROWN QUILTS RATIONING BOARD

Ill Health Forces Clerk To Resign Job

Tolen E. Brown, mileage clerk of the War Price and Rationing Board for Fayette County, has tendered his resignation, effective February 1st, and so far, his successor has not been announced.

Brown, who is leaving his work by reason of ill health brought on by strenuous work while he was Chief Clerk of the Board, will spend some time resting before taking up other work.

He has been with the rationing board since August 1, 1942, and after a severe illness a year ago, was given a somewhat lighter job in the department. Brown was former County Recorder of Fayette County, and is widely known throughout the community.

JEFFERSONVILLE GOLD STAR UNIT PLANS PROGRAM

National Defense Program, One of Five Projects Just Named

Jeffersonville Gold Star Unit 474 of the American Legion Auxiliary is planning now for an Americanism and National Defense Program, tentatively scheduled for February 17.

The group will also purchase a War Bond during the Fourth War Loan Drive. For the Poppy Day sale, 1,500 veteran-made poppies have been ordered. A rummage sale, to be held February 26, is planned also by the organization.

Contributing $5 to the Fletcher Hospital Fund, the group is helping to buy a portable piano for the hospital at Cambridge where so many wounded servicemen are recovering.

For the past two years, the Jeffersonville unit has won national and department citations for meeting all requirements as an organization. Requirements are: meeting membership quota, purchasing poppies, sending three reports on Americanism, war activities and national defense, community service, child welfare and rehabilitation, program on national defense, legislation, Pan-American study, paying assessments for rehabilitation, child welfare and convention fund and submitting a condensed unit history for each year to department headquarters.

Over 200 Christmas cards and letters and a box to each serviceman son of a Legionnaire were sent to all Jeffersonville servicemen during the holidays. Letters from all over the world have come to the women who packed those boxes and mailed those letters and cards to thank the folks at home for the thought.

FUNERAL RITES HELD FOR MRS. ROBERT ORR

Funeral services for Mrs. Robert Orr were held Tuesday at 2 P.M. at the Hook Funeral Home, and were attended by a large number from this community and other points.

Rev. George B. Parkin conducted the services, and read a memoir.

Mrs. Janet Fennig sang "Good Night and Good Morning" and "Rock of Ages." Mrs. Amanda Paxson was at the piano, and also played at the beginning and again at the close of the services.

Burial was made in the Washington C. H. Cemetery.

The pallbearers were: Russell, Earl and Richard Orr, Elton Underwood, Ira Copeland and James Calhoun.

H. C. IRELAND FUNERAL WILL BE THURSDAY

Funeral services for Horace C. Ireland, who died Tuesday noon at his home, will be held Thursday at 3:30 P.M. at the Klever Funeral Home. Rev. George B. Parkin, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, will be in charge of the services.

Friends may call at the funeral home at any time. Burial will be made in Washington C. H. cemetery beside Mrs. Ireland, who died over a year ago.

TEMPERATURE TUESDAY NEAR A RECORD HERE

Peak of 65 Recorded and More Mild Weather Is Forecast

With a peak temperature of 65 degrees, Tuesday took its place among the warmest January 25ths on record, and the spring-like weather was greatly enjoyed by citizens generally.

The minimum for the day was at the freezing point, with a reading of 39 at 9 P.M. Tuesday night, and 44 at 8 A.M. Wednesday. Forty-four and 22 were the extremes a year ago.

With the coming of higher temperatures, farmers generally are hoping for heavy rainfall, although only light rain is forecast for some parts of the state. The mild temperature was expected to continue over Thursday.

In this community the warm-temperature Tuesday afternoon saw large numbers of persons without their top coats, and doors of many business houses were open part of the time.

Top readings Tuesday included: Cincinnati 66, equal to record; Springfield 63; Columbus 62, a record; Toledo 61, highest in 11 years; Cleveland 56, tied record of 28 years; and Dayton 59, one degree under record.

A heavy rain would hearten farmers who fear serious drought damage to the winter wheat crop. Dr. H. C. Ramsower, director of Ohio State University's agricultural extension service, reported a few days ago that wheat was damaged but early rain would help the crop materially. Farmers have been hauling water in some parts of the state because of dry wells.

Precipitation in Ohio has averaged four inches less than normal in the past four months.

MAYOR DIES

PIKETON—Dr. Isaac Preston Seiler, 66, mayor of Piketon, died Tuesday, after serving the community more than 40 years.

About 1,000 tons of bismuth were used in the United States in 1943.

FILING TAX REPORTS HAS BEEN EXTENDED

Robert Gregg, sales tax examiner in this district, Wednesday called attention to the fact that the time for filing semi-annual sales tax returns, by vendors, for the period of July 1 to December 31, has been extended from January 31 to and including February 29, without penalty. This extension is authorized by the State Tax Commission. A schedule for assisting Fayette County vendors will be announced soon, Gregg said.

THESE two important steps may help you to overcome the discomforts of indigestion, sour stomach, jerky nerves, loss of appetite, underweight, digestive complaints, weakness, poor complexion!
A person who is operating on only 50 to 75% healthy blood volume or a stomach digestive capacity of only 50 to 60% normal is severely handicapped. So with ample stomach digestive juices PLUS RICH, RED-BLOOD you should enjoy that sense of well-being which denotes physical fitness... mental alertness!
If you are subject to poor digestion or suspect deficient red-blood as the cause of your trouble, yet have no organic complication or focal infection, SSS Tonic may be just what you need as it is especially designed (1) to promote the flow of VITAL DIGESTIVE JUICES in the stomach and (2) to build-up BLOOD STRENGTH when deficient.
